Blairmore Rate is Twenty-Five Mills

The regular meeting of the council of Blairmore was held on Monday night, the mayor, councillors McLeod, Finclair, Drain, Brisco and Beebe being present.

After adopting the minutes of the previous meeting several communications were read, which included a list of estimates from the secretary-treasurer of the local school district of requirements for the school year 1913-14; the Provincial Laboratory, reporting analysis of water as supplied the town; W. J. Budd & Co., Calgary, asking for a twenty-year franchise for the lighting of the town; the West Canadian Collieries, Limited, re assessment of their townsite in the N. W. 1/4 section 75, R. 4, W. of the 5th M.; H. S. Pelletier, Monarch, re lots belonging to the estate of the late Peter Smith; Department of the Interior requiring information regarding source of supply and distributing system of the Blairmore water service.

The accounts passed included Postoffice $500, C. P. R. $375, H. Sayer $200, G. Kelly $21.50, F. W. Doubt $39.50 less license $25.00, J. Filippino $4.50, J. Rapt $12.00, for street cleaning $50.00, Joe Filippino $7.00, T. B. George $7.45, C. E. Hiseock $100.00, J. R. Irwin $100.00.

The list of estimates for the school district included: Salaries $6,345.00, Bond interest 1,150.00, Fuel 140.00, Supplies 200.00, Heating system $50.00, Incidentals 300.00, Total $9,085.00.

The Inland Construction Co., Calgary, were open to negotiate with the town for a lighting system. A representative of the company, J. Rudolph, was in Blairmore on Monday, and promised to forward his company's proposals in detail in a few days.

W. J. Budd & Co. were anxious to enter into a franchise with the town, to install a perfectly up-to-date lighting system, to duplicate the same within one year, to introduce new industries for the town with a view to supplying said industries with whatever electrical power they may need.

The matter of lights was laid over till next meeting, and the secretary-treasurer was asked to inform Mr. Budd that the fire and light committee would be glad to meet him and consult the matter at any time.

The matter of fixing a mill rate was next in order. On motion by Drain-Brisco, the rate was set at 15 mills for school and 10 mills for town.

A petition signed by the property owners of Victoria street was read. This petition asked that the mayor and councillors take the necessary steps for the construction of cement sidewalks between Fifth and Ninth avenues.

Beebe-Drain—That the width of the sidewalk be 15 feet. Carried.

Beebe-Drain—that it is resolved that the petition of R. M. Brisco et al. for local improvements on Victoria street be received and the secretary-treasurer be instructed to send out notices for a sitting of the council to hear appeals in respect to a special frontage assessment to extend over a period of twenty years, the proportion to be borne by the town at large to be two-thirds and the proportion to be borne as a special frontage assessment be one-third, and that the fourteenth day of July, 1913, be the day for holding said special sitting of the council.

Councillor McLeod had been notified to remove certain buildings off the line of Dearborn street and had been given ten days to effect such removal. He asked that the council grant him an extension of thirty days to permit him laying concrete foundations on which to move the buildings. His request was granted.

L. H. Putnam, on behalf of George Bradley, made a request that the council also grant him a similar extension. Mr. Putnam could not guarantee that Bradley would move his building in the thirty days or thirty years, but claimed that if Bradley was legally obliged and bound to remove his building he would do so. Mr. Putnam's request was refused.

Councillor McLeod asked how many men were at present working under the Moose Jaw Syndicate or the National Land Co.'s license, and as to how much by way of license had been paid to the town by those companies. Mr. McLeod was furnished the desired information.

Councillor McLeod asked why it was that the chief of police was permitted to act as foreman on road improvement works, and at the same time display his police uniform. He claimed that the transient public generally regarded those working under the uniform "boss" as convicts, and thought that if the town desired the police to act as foreman they should have him don his civilian garbs.

F. W. Doubt asked why it was that automobile owners were permitted to monopolize the traffic way, convey freight or passengers, take money out of the town and leave nothing in return, and not pay a municipal tax. The automobiles were controlled by a provincial law which required only that they pay a provincial license. This provincial license permitted them to go into any town or city in the Province and deliver business or to tear up the highways without being under any further obligation, while the owner of a horse livery was obliged to pay a town license which did not even permit him to enter another town and do business without having to duplicate his license in that town. Several other points were set forward by Mr. Doubt which gave rise to earnest consideration, and

Arthur Pelkey Has Been Acquitted

In the case of the Crown vs. Arthur Pelkey, for manslaughter in connection with the death of Luther McCarty, the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" and acquitted Pelkey.

The following is the verdict in full:

"Not guilty, in this way, my lord, that the contest on May 24th, in the Burns arena, was a prize fight, but that Arthur Pelkey is not guilty of causing the death of Luther McCarty. We, the jury, urge upon the government the necessity of enacting such measures to existing legislation to preclude the further holding of contests of this nature within Alberta."

The jury went out at 4:07 p. m. and returned the verdict at 5:25.

As a consequence it is considered that the affair will mean the end of boxing in the province of Alberta, and any professionals who sign articles and don gloves in public where admission is charged, will run risk of being brought into court for prize-fighting.

Crop Prospects in Alberta Never Brighter

Without exception, the reports from every part of Alberta at the first of the week are to the effect that the crop for this year will be bountiful, given average conditions. Farmers state that they will harvest their barley by August 11, and the wheat crop will also be cut much earlier than last year. In fact, this year's crop is surpassing expectations, and already, in certain districts, the grain is heading and stands strong and healthy, ranging from 18 to 27 inches in height.

Eighty Women Burned Alive

St. Petersburg, June 19—Eighty women were burned to death today by villagers enraged at the importation of cheap girl laborers to work on a sugar estate in the district of Pribaltie, in the province of Poltava, Southern Russia, according to the newspaper Lianin.

The excited villagers first securely fastened all the means of exit from a wooden barn in which the girls were housed. They then set fire to the building while the inmates were still asleep and all were burned to death without a chance to escape.

the urgent necessity of amending the provincial automobile law.

The F. M. Thompson Co. reported a leakage in the pipe leading to their premises, and requested the immediate attention of the council as the water was already doing damage to goods in the basement.

Beebe-Brisco—That the chairman of the Fire and Light Committee be authorized to order the supplies necessary for the fire brigade, consisting of coats, helmets, play-pipes and nozzles. Carried.

The council adjourned at 11:59 p. m.

VALUABLE MAN.

Applicant for strike breaking job was evidently an expert.

A RESTAURANT which caters for many luncheon and tea parties suffered much during a strike from lack of trade. The management expressed a plan for recruiting the staff. An advertisement for an "artistic waiter" was placed. Testing an applicant's ability, she said:

"Drive to me that you are the man I want."

The man replied:

"Yes, ma'am, certainly. At my last place I cut the beef so fine that when a waiter opened the door to admit guests the draft blew the meat off the plates."

He got the job—New York American.

Only One at Home.

It was the foreign artist's first visit to London. He told his travelling companion as they rose for breakfast the first morning that he would have to be gone most of the day. "I've got to see a doctor and a lawyer, to whom I have cards of introduction," he explained, "and there are a couple of dramatic critics here who've written me to call on some at I reached town. Then I'm going to hunt up Goldsmith's grave in Temple gardens. I'd rather see that than any other thing in England." A few minutes past 10 the author walked into the hotel again and, to his friend's surprised look, merely said: "Doctor and lawyer and critics all out. Only man at home was Oliver."—London Opinion.

Courteous.

A woman stopped the car at one of the avenues and, upon reaching the platform attempted to get off on the wrong side.

"The other side, madam," said the conductor.

"I want to get off on this side," exclaimed the woman.

"You can't do it, madam," was the reply.

"Conductor," she said angrily, "I want to get off this side the car."

In a loud voice the conductor cried: "Gentlemen, please stand aside and let the lady climb the gate."—Harper's Magazine.

Hot Scotch.

This incident is related of a Scotch doctor, new to the gun, who adventured on a day's rabbit shooting.

Chased by the ferret, bunny was a rather quick moving target, and the medico was not meeting with the success he anticipated.

"Hing it all, man," he exclaimed impatiently to the keeper who accompanied him, "these beasts are too quick for me."

"Aye, doctor," the pawky keeper replied, "but ye surely didna expect them to be still like yer patients till ye kill them!"—Chicago Tribune.

Correcting a Husband.

A colored woman went to the pastor of her church the other day to complain of the conduct of her husband, who, she said, was a low down, worthless, trifling fellow. After listening to a long recital of the various wrongs of her neglected spouse and her efforts to correct them, the minister said, "Have you ever tried spanking him with a strap?"

"No," was the reply, "but I don't want to hit him."—Metropolitan Magazine.

ITCHY RINDING ECZEMA ON FACE

Very Bad Case. Little Blisters Broke and Formed Scabs. Thought Would Be Disfigured for Life. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment a Minute, Completely Cured.

Cold Brook, St. John, N. B.—"Cuticura Soap and Ointment certainly cured my little girl of a very bad case of eczema. She had eczema on her face for nearly two years. First little white blisters, then red, then scabs, then sores, then she would break and form scabs, and they were very itchy and burning. I used to have great trouble in getting her to sleep at night. She scratched so I had to do all I could to prevent her, for sometimes she would scratch the scabs off and then it would be very sore and burning. She was certainly a great case. I treated her for it and also used different kinds of blood medicines, and ointments, but got no cure. I thought she would be disfigured for life."

"I had treated about two years when one day I saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper. I decided to give them a trial. I had not used them for more than a month when she was completely cured. I cannot praise Cuticura Soap and Ointment enough. Of course I continue to use Cuticura Soap as I find it the best soap on the market for children."—Oleander Mrs. John Newman, Dec. 30, 1911.

THE HEIGHT OF THE ARTISTIC.

DID a canvas in the post-impressionist style. It looked like scrambled eggs on toast.

I even had to admit.

I said, "I'll work this Cubist stuff with all my might and main. For folks are falling for the stuff, and I have to keep pace."

I called the canvas "Cub With Cub" and hung it on the wall. Although to me 'twas vague as mist, 'twas clear to others.

I have forgotten her remark. "Twas something, though, like this 'Cub'—it's a picture of a man's face to be, while being, bliss."

I hung this canvas, as I say, and everything went on. One day an accident befell.

There came upon the picture hall a melancholy man. He saw my picture on the wall and straight to laugh began.

This laugh, which echoed through the room, expanded to a roar.

I never heard a person boom in such a way before.

His collar burst, his buttons popped. His coat and waist split; then down upon the floor he toppled and lay there in a fl.

Ten days and nights, while hope was faint, I watched that wretched man. As funny as I can.

—Chicago Tribune.

Asking the Impossible.

One dark night two men were walking home from their club. Both gentlemen were very much at sea. For mutual support and protection they were walking arm in arm.

Suddenly they fell over an obstruction on the pavement. One rolled into the gutter to the left. The other fell into a trench left uncovered by some laborer for a time. Then the man in the gutter raised a feeble pipe.

"I say, old chap," said he, "won't you give me a bit of a lift?"

"Wash that," said the other from the trench.

"I say, you know," said the man in the gutter, "won't you give me a bit of a lift?"

"No," said the other.

"Because," said the man in the trench, thickly, "you're trying to fatter me."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

The Age of Elizabeth.

The class in English history was in session, and the professor was telling of the impressive age at the time of the Elizabethan era. After speaking for some minutes on the subject he turned to one of the young men and asked:

"How old was Elizabeth, Mr. Holmes?"

"The young man gave a faraway expression.

"Eighteen on her last birthday, sir," came the reply.—Lippincott's Magazine.

No Brains There.

"I thought that in the fifteen years of my practice of medicine," said a physician, "I had answered almost every possible foolish question, but a new one was sprung on me recently. A young man came in with an inflamed eye, for which I prescribed liniment, to be dropped into the eye three times a day. He left the surgery, but returned a few minutes, poked his head in the doorway and asked, 'Shall I drop this in the eye before meals or after?'"—London Tit-Bits.

The guide in referring to the Egyptian pyramid remarked:

"Then it was a government job—oh," replied the wealthy contractor.—London Tit-Bits.

C. P. R. TELEPHONE SERVICE

Largest Commercial Switchboard in Canada Installed at Montreal.

The Bell Telephone Company has just completed the installation of a new switchboard at the P. R. street station at Montreal, which is the largest commercial switchboard in Canada with a capacity of twelve hundred lines. The telephone room is situated in the old tower and is well lighted and ventilated, and of such a size that it is necessary at any future time to extend the switchboard.

The new switchboard is provided. In arranging this important department the company has had the comfort of the operators in mind and a special room has been prepared immediately above the operating room. This is furnished with easy chairs, sofas and reading and writing materials and everything has been done to make their quarters comfortable and home like. The new switchboard is what is known as the No. 4 Lamp Signal Multiple board, and has a great many improvements which were lacking in the old one, such as the signals, audible and visible lamp disconnect signals. At the present time it takes eight operators to handle the business and has an ample capacity for ten positions. The board has been divided into two sections the first four handling the originating business and the other four the incoming business. Each position consists of two main banks sixteen for the whole board. At the moment the board is wired for five hundred local lines and one hundred trunk lines, the limit capacity as stated being twelve hundred lines and one hundred and sixty trunk lines which will be increased by the operation of the board.

During one day a total of 7,180 calls were handled, an average of 800 calls per operator per day. The other day a single hour record of calls showed the handling of 225. This tremendous number of calls necessitates an exceedingly fine class of operators, and those at the P. R. street station are no exception. Telephone Company have been specially and thoroughly trained in every phase of the business. They have had years of experience with the C. P. R. and its officials and employees.

In order to properly handle the working hours of the week a staff of twelve operators and one supervisor are needed all the time.

What is Simpson doing now? Fish—Oh, he's travelling with a meager.

Gosh—Pretty hard work, isn't it? Fish—Hard work. I don't mind it, but I don't expect it's his head into a lion's mouth twice a day.

What has become of the big man who used to beat the bass drum? Ask the drummer of the drum corps. He left us about three months ago.

Yes, very good; but he got so fat that when he marched he couldn't hit the drum in the middle.

Your friend will think it a shame if you make a lot of money by following the advice he gave you, but which he has afraid to follow.

Tempted.

I thought you had planned to spend all day working in the garden? And I did. But I started to dig, and the worms were so plentiful that they changed my mind and decided to go fishing.

President Cleveland, while talking to a friend about one of his many angling expeditions, told the following story:

I had with me on that particular trip two countrymen, who evidently were familiar with my reputation as a fisher. Before starting one of them made the suggestion that I first catch a fish meat treat the crowd. I assented to this, and he now, don't you see, I have two fellows both had a bite and were too mean to pull them out.

I suppose you do, then? remarked the friend.

Oh, no, replied the President. I didn't have half an hour on my hook.

HER "BEST FRIEND"

A Woman Thus Speaks of Postum

We usually consider our best friends those who treat best, who are the most generous and who are the most kind. Some persons think tea and coffee are our friends, but watch them carefully while and observe that they are two of the meanest of all enemies for they stab one while professing friendship.

Tea and coffee contain a poisonous drug—caffeine—which injures the delicate nervous system and frequently sets up disease in one or more organs of the body. If its use is persisted in, it will lead to palpitation and nervousness of the heart.

I had heart palpitation and nervousness for four years, and the doctor told me the trouble was caused by coffee. He advised me to leave it off, but I thought I could not, writes a Western lady.

"On the advice of a friend I tried Postum and it so satisfied me that I did not care for coffee after a few days trial of Postum."

"As weeks went by and I continued to use Postum my weight increased from 98 to 115 pounds, and the heart trouble left me. I have used it a year now and am stronger than I ever was. I can handle up stairs without any heart palpitation, and I am free from nervousness."

"My children are very fond of Postum and it agrees with them. My sister liked it when she drank it at my house; now she has Postum at home and has become very fond of it. You may use my name if you wish as I am not ashamed of praising my best friend—Postum. Name—Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont."

Postum now comes in new convenient form called Instant Postum. It is regular Postum, so prepared at the factory that only the soluble portions are retained.

A spoonful of Instant Postum with hot water, and sugar and cream to taste, produces instantly a delicious beverage.

Write for the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Coasting at Nagasaki

Coasting at Nagasaki, Japan, is done entirely by ships. Big coal barges bear down upon the ship as it approaches the shore, and as soon as it comes to anchor a rough ladder is placed between the liner and the foremost barge.

On each rung of a girl takes her place. Men in the barge quickly shove the coal into shallow baskets holding half a bushel each, to the sound of a monotonous chant, and these baskets they pass from hand to hand up the living ladder with marvelous celerity.

Each girl seizes one and swings it straight up in front of her above her head, when it is caught by the next girl. Down a ladder, laden with baskets packed with girls, the empty baskets pass in similar manner back into the barge to be refilled.

Barge after barge is emptied in this way. The monotonous chanting never ceases, and the living ladder, an hour after hour with its never-ending stream of baskets, until the last barge is emptied, when the ladder disappears as if by magic and the ship is ready to proceed on her voyage.

A Powerful Shot.

An Irishman who wasn't much of a hunter went out to hunt one day, and the first thing he saw to shoot at was a bird sitting snugly on the top of a fence.

Well, but was a deuce of a fine looking bird befur Ol blew the others off 'e!"

Studying Eastern Slope Forests

The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, this summer, continuing the study of the forest conditions of the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains, which was begun a couple of seasons ago by Mr. T. W. Dwight, M. F.

The result of Mr. Dwight's investigation has lately been published in pamphlet form by the branch as their bulletin No. 7, entitled "Forest Conditions in the Rocky Mountains Forest Reserve."

The forest reserve mentioned will be remembered, comprises the entire eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains, from the international boundary to a point farther north than the latitude of Edmonton. The study takes in only the southern part of the reserve.

In the bulletin referred to, Mr. Dwight describes the trees of the region and discusses the effect on them of altitude, aspect and other conditions. He also goes into the effect of fire, and discusses the effect of fire on the forest and its growth. Methods of lumbering are also discussed, with the idea always in mind of renewing the forest and securing a continuous supply of timber.

Methods followed on the United States "National Forests" in Montana and Idaho are also mentioned, and the bulletin concludes with a number of tables of a technical nature, showing the yield to be expected from forests of the various types. A number of the forest and its growth are used to illustrate the bulletin.

Copies may be obtained gratis from the Director of Forestry, Ottawa.

A GOOD MEDICINE FOR THE SPRING

Don't Use Harsh Purgatives—A Tonic is All You Need.

Not exactly sick—but not feeling quite well. That is the way most people feel in the spring. Blandly, appetite fails, sometimes headaches, and a feeling of depression.

Pimples or eruptions may appear on the skin, or there may be twinges of rheumatism or neuralgia. Any of these indicate that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon you and may easily develop into a serious trouble.

Do not dose yourself with purgatives to make many people do. In the hope that you can put your body right. Purgatives gallop through the system and weaken instead of giving strength. Any doctor will tell you this is true. What you need in spring is a tonic that will make new blood and build up the nerves.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only medicine that can do this specially, safely and surely. Every dose of this medicine makes new blood which cleans the skin, strengthens the appetite and makes tired, depressed men, women and children bright, active and healthy.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, I was very much run down when I began using the Pills, and a few boxes fully restored me to my normal state.

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 60 cents a box or six boxes $3.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Br. 27111, Ont.

Some little girls were boasting of their respective families. "They all passed from clothes to personal appearance, and finally came to parental dignity." The minister's little girl boasted:

"Every package that comes for my daddy is marked 'M. D.'"

And every package that comes for my daddy is marked 'M. D.' returned a daughter of the physician.

Then followed a look of contempt from the youngest of the party. "Huh! I've got a package that's nothing but a package that comes to our house has three letters on it—C. O. Y."

For years Mother's "Worm Expeller" has ranked as the most effective preparation manufactured, and it always maintains its reputation.

Pa, was Job a doctor? Not that I know of. I don't think he was much to say about the patients of Job?

When Professor Rokhtanski, of Vienna, was asked if he had any sons, he answered: Four.

Two howl and two heal, was the laconic answer.

A couple of his sons were public singers and the other two were doctors.

"BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER"

Without good blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Thinness of the blood, or anemia, is common to young girls as well as to old people. ## Contradictory Terms

An American visitor to Cambridge sought explanation of some unfamiliar terms, which a genial Don was delighted to elucidate. Full term, he explained, is three-quarters of a term, and the May week is the first fortnight in June. A day got there, George, is the day on which men leave the University, or ordinary degree is conferred by a special exam, and an Inspector of art is one who has been an art student for at least six years.

The Yankee passed a handkerchief over his weary brow. And will they, he queried, put me in the London train if I ask for a ticket to Cambridge?

Again came the reply in the affirmative.

George was famous for being late at his appointments. He was engaged to be married to a young lady in a neighboring city, and when the day of the ceremony arrived George, as usual, did not appear.

The bride was on the verge of nervous prostration when the following telegram was received from the missing bridegroom:

Dear Helen—Missed the train. Will arrive on the 4.31. Don't get married until I get there. George.

At the first symptoms of sore throat, which presages ulceration and inflammation, take a spoonful of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Add a little sugar to it to make it palatable. It will allay the irritation and prevent the ulceration and swelling that are so painful. Those who were periodically subject to quincy have thus made themselves immune to attack.

Two women, one of whom carried a baby, entered a well-known furniture store one day last summer and signified a desire to look at some carpets. It was warm by the salesman cheerfully showed roll after roll until the perspiration streamed from his face. Finally one of the women asked the other if she did not think it was time to go. Not quite, was the answer of her companion; add there is an undergarment she added: Baby likes to see him roll them out and we've plenty of time to catch the train.

Must Remember Him

A well-known goalkeeper while taking a stroll in a certain North Country town, was greatly surprised one day when a stranger rushed up to him, seized him by the hand, and shook it warmly.

There must be some mistake, stammered the football player. I—Mistake! Oh, dear, not broke in the street. That is to say, you aren't you?

Yes; but what has that got to do with me? Oh, don't you remember when I—shot at goal yesterday you tipped the ball over the net into the crowd.

Again came the reply in the affirmative. Then, hang it all, exclaimed the stranger, triumphantly, you must remember me, I was the chap who threw the ball back again.

CAN FIND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Madame Perreault Tells How She Cured Her Kidneys With Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Found Health and Contentment.

Vernon, Ont. (Special)—"I am very content. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made me well. These are the words of Madame Eugene Perreault, a highly-respected lady of this place, and mother of a large family. For twenty years she was a sufferer. But let her tell her own story.

"I was always tired and nervous," she states. "I felt heavy and sleepless after meals. My limbs were heavy and I had a dragging sensation across my loins. My skin itched and burned at night. I had a bitter taste in my mouth especially in the morning. In twenty years I hardly knew what it was to have a well moment. Then I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me."

Madame Perreault's symptoms were those of kidney disease. They are the symptoms of nine out of ten of the nervous, rundown, pain-racked women of Canada. Madame Perreault writes: "I feel like a new woman."

Madame Perreault writes: "I feel like a new woman. I am now a healthy, happy, contented woman. I am now a healthy, happy, contented woman. I am now a healthy, happy, contented woman."

Thought It Was Poetry

A celebrated journalist once concluded an important article, with a carefully composed and elegant peroration. To his dismay, however, a printer's idiosyncrasy caused this peroration to appear in the world full up into separate lines, and posing as a poetical quotation.

The Irish journalist, conscious that some of his best work had been spoiled, rushed wildly into the editor's sanctum and, pointing to the printed muddle, excitedly exclaimed—

Look here at this. See what that foolish printer has done to my work. He has ruined—literally ruined—my work.

The editor, with that serene composure and affability which is so characteristic of his race, listened quietly to a recital of the printer's crimes, and then gravely answered—

I will see justice done, my good fellow, he murmured; and then, armed with a copy of the paper, strode into the composing room.

Jenkins, did you set up this? A compositor of the good old school came forward.

Yes, sir, that is some of my work. And very fine work it is, too, as claimed the editor. Do you know that this is some of Mr. S.'s finest prose, and you have been thick-headed enough to set it up for poetry?

Prose, is it, sir? Looked at the compositor. Well, I noticed at that passage, and I read it for words, and I read it backwards, and I read it upside down, but I couldn't make head nor tail nor common sense out of it, so I thought it must be poetry and printed it as such.

What He Wanted

With the air of one who has no moment to spare, she bustled into the bookshop.

I want a book for my husband, please, she began. It's his birthday, and I want it for a present. He'll be forty-four. Show me what you have—be quick, please! Nothing too expensive, and I don't want anything that will offend his mother.

Here's a mild-mannered man, and not fond of sports, so don't show me anything in that line; and for goodness sake don't offer me any of those trashy novels; and no matter how you try to persuade me, I won't take anything in the line of history or biography. Come now, I'm in a dreadful hurry, and you have already wasted too much of my time here!

Of course you don't know my husband, but from all I've said can't you suggest something appropriate? The assistant lifted down a small volume from one of the shelves.

Yes, ma'am, he answered. I think I have the very thing. Here is a little book entitled: How to Manage a Talking Machine.

Nothing as Good for Asthma. Asthma remedies come and go but every man who has the complaint Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy gives greater and greater. No further effort need be made to cure it. It is a merit. It relieves. It is always of the same unvarying quality which the sufferer from asthma learns to know. Do not suffer another attack, but get this splendid remedy today.

It's no use talking, remarked Banks. It's impossible to make a woman understand even the principles of finance.

What's the matter now? Inquired Henderson.

Matter? ejaculated the disgusted Banks. Why, when I was away yesterday the lady swallowed a three-penny ball. And what does my wife do but call in a doctor and pay him half a guinea for getting that coin back.

One day as W. Murgidge, the lawyer, and Judge Minot were walking along the street in Concord, N.H., together, Mr. Murgidge, in his regular voice, said: Judge, let's go into partnership. You furnish the capital and I'll furnish the brains.

Judge quickly pulled a 5-cent piece from his pocket and holding it in his palm said to Murgidge: Very well, cousin, that I concur that!

RESERVE AND FOREST

Turtle Mountain Forest Reserve a Summer Resort

A forest reserve, in spite of its name, is not an area intended to be reserved altogether from public use. On the contrary, the idea is setting it aside is not to keep it from the use of the public, but rather to manage the area that, while the present users are afforded the best possible use of the tract, the natural resources contained in it may be continued unimpaired for the use of further generations.

Following out this general policy and striving to make the areas now reserved to the people, whose property they are, the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior is endeavoring to make known to the public of the neighboring country the advantages of the Turtle Mountain Forest Reserve as a summer resort.

The reserve is located immediately north of the international boundary, and approximately fifty miles east of the international boundary between Saskatchewan and Manitoba. It can easily be reached, by motor or by horse vehicle, from Winnipeg or Whitecourt, two points which are easily accessible by either O.P.R. or C.N.R. By motor the journey is accomplished in about an hour or so in about two and a half hours.

Lakes well stocked with fish are numerous throughout the reserve; wild fruits abound in their season, and mosquitoes are much less troublesome than in the prairie. On Lake Max the largest of the lakes of the reserve are three islands, on the largest of which (Arbor Island) villa lots have been laid out by the government.

Several motor boats and skiffs are now on the lake, and bathing facilities are first-class, especially for the children. The island is well stocked with fish and the grateful shade and the constant breeze during the heat of summer go to make a vacation spent here very attractive.

Gordon Lake and Lakes William and Oscar also offer many attractions. Good maps of the reserve will shortly be available, and these, as well as other information concerning the resort, may be obtained from the Director of Forestry, Ottawa, or the Supervisor of the Turtle Mountain Forest Reserve, Whitecourt, Man.

Thomas W. Lawson, at a dance in Boston, said of a famous scandalizer: He is all right at heart, but his outside is prickly, and you must handle him with great caution—as they handle the Tin Can gambler.

A gambler of Tin Can borrowed a sum of money from a money lender, and when the note fell due he said he could not settle.

You must settle! shouted the money lender. You don't settle, I'll—But the gambler, taking a revolver from his boot, pointed it at the money lender and said: You don't settle, I'll eat that note or I'll let daylight into you!

And the money lender, after a moment's silent thought, crumpled the note into a ball, put it in his mouth and chewed it vigorously, and then with a gulp swallowed the pulpy morsel.

That saved your life, said the money lender in a muffled tone, and the next day he had a streak of luck and paid the money lender in full.

The money lender was much pleased with this honesty and when the gambler, a few weeks later, called and asked for his loan, he was readily accommodated.

The gambler, having pocketed the loan, selected a sheet of paper whereon to write the usual acknowledgment, and the money lender, who was waiting for the paper, waited in vain.

Wait a minute, my friend. Would you mind writing it on this code card?

Turning The Tables
A well-dressed, dapper-looking young man stepped blithely into the post-office and purchased two penny new-laid eggs placed near the window.

The stamp clerk, as he was handing them out, asked: How many more-order this morning? No, thanks.

Or some postal cards? A new supply of some color plates is coming. None today.

Stamped envelopes? We have all sizes in stock. No, no.

Want to rent a post-office box or register a package? Not at all.

And the customer left. The postmaster approached in a rage and shouted: Who is that fellow, and what do you mean by insulting him?

Oh, he's a barber, replied the clerk, nonchalantly, and whenever I go in for a shave he insists upon giving me a face massage, hair cut, shave, shampoo, or some other fool thing that I don't want, and I thought I'd see how he would enjoy it if I turned the tables on him.

Miss Jane Adams once said at a luncheon of the Chicago Civil Club: We women have still much to fight for. Our battle will be long and difficult.

Well, let us frankly admit it. There is nothing to be gained by some colored phrases as William White employed.

William White's brother had killed a man in a cold blood.

Well, William, how about your brother's visit to the town asked him one day at the trial.

Well, said William, they've put him in jail for a month.

That's rather a light sentence for a blooded murder, said the gentleman.

Yes, sir, William admitted, but after the month is up they're going to hang him.

Murilla—Who is that gentleman you introduced me to a little time ago? I didn't catch his name.

Murilla—That is the distinguished poet, Mr. Scavenger.

Murilla—Indeed? Now I understand why he seemed hurt when he asked me who was my favorite poet, and I replied, Shakespeare.

Wood Block Paving

The paving of city streets with wood is again coming into favour, new methods of laying the pavements making this one of the most satisfactory of pavements. Various types of pavements have been made of the same material. Eighty-two per cent of the new paving in Minneapolis is wood block, and Saskatoon and other Western towns are giving the wood block paving the preference.

Best results are obtained from rectangular shaped blocks cut from Southern or Norway pine which are thoroughly seasoned crosscut. This later process not only lengthens the life of the wood but reduces its absorptive capacity of water, thus preventing the weakening of the work fibres and reducing its tendency to buckle. The most approved method of laying this pavement used in London, New York and other large cities, is to first make a concrete foundation four to six inches thick on which is laid a thin layer of sand, or better still of moist Portland cement into which the blocks are closely set.

The blocks are from five to nine inches in depth and must be free from defects. Care must be taken to place them with the grain perpendicular to the road bed. If laid with the long edges at right angles to the curb the joints are apt to become worn by the wheels on the horse's shoe, so to prevent this and to best provide for possible expansion, the paving is laid at an angle about 67 degrees with the curb. The joints are usually filled with ground cement and the surface of the paving is then covered with a thin dressing of coarse sand, which beds into the pores of the blocks and toughens them.

Such a pavement has the smoothness of asphalt and will last almost without repair for fifteen years under ordinary conditions. It is sand and gravel, easily kept clean and has a certain springiness lacking in asphalt, and so is much easier on horse's feet. Expert help is not required in its laying and the cost of maintenance is practically nil, so that from the standpoint of cost as well, it compares favorably with the asphalt, macadam and brick now being used in Canadian towns and cities.

The manufacture of wood-blocks for paving would furnish saw-mill owners with a means of utilizing the many defective logs of Norway pine unfit for saw material, and could a steady market be developed, much of the waste in connection with present lumbering and milling operations could be avoided.

TAKE PLENTY OF TIME TO EAT

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and swallowed. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

Jottings From China

China has for years been the centre and scene of historic events. Romance and reality have gone hand in hand, and the whole place is steeped in lore and legend.

A sense of the ridiculous is unknown to your heathen Chinese. During the recent revolution a company of soldiers went into action with an umbrella strapped to each back whether it was raining or not. It is not certain what at Canton, Chinese "Tommyes" are armed with all the implements of war, plus a gas mask in hand, and calmly munching pieces of sugarcane, so dear to the Asiatic.

A cultured Chinaman, garbed Western fashion, on his return home had to allow his effects to be searched by the military, and caused a scare there by which his lie humorous story. The use of bombs is not unknown, and in this case the searchers were at the look-out for such implements of havoc but seemed doomed to disappointment when lo! they alighted on oval-shaped pellets, which caused great consternation, especially when the would-be destroyer of human life was one of these bombs, exasperated by the attention he was receiving, grasped several of them and dashed them to the floor. It took a considerable amount of time to convince the soldiers that they were not so dreadful as they seemed.

Enthusiasm in the cause of the recent revolution has been rife. At a meeting in Honan one rich widow offered two hundred thousand dollars towards the funds of the cause, and another enthusiast threatened to kill himself as a proof of his devotion. On being restrained he cut off one of his fingers, and with the bleeding stump waved characters in blood.

The attitude adopted by foreigners is of long-extended duration, although with the adoption of Western ideas and education it is dying out. The building of a railway by the foreigners caused some trouble.

One man who protested did so in a singular manner. He arrogated to himself certain divine rights, and to show his gifts stepped in front of an oncoming train. The engine happened to be in charge of a European, who seeing the foolhardy man in time, was able to pull up without injuring him. This feat of proving that the foreigner had no power over the man greatly impressed the onlookers. But a doubting Thomas turned up the next day, and the performance had to be repeated. Only this time the train was in charge of a Chinaman, who not only saw the fool stopping his engine, and as a result there was one Chinaman the less.

Naturally the legends and stories which are interwoven with the people are many. In certain parts of the land the cult of the unicorn is carried on. The orthodox plan is to place the bulbs in shallow blue dishes, filled with water, and with small stones, or preferably sea or coral pebbles, surrounding them. A practical reason for the adoption of these pebbles would seem to be the support afforded to the bulbs, which prevents their falling over when the water is stirred and the pebbles of the leafsheaths and clusters of flowers. But legend is stronger than reason, and the real reason, as the Chinese say, is as follows: Long, long ago, an old man and his wife lived in extreme poverty, and a mountain stream in Southern China. They had the blessing of two daughters, who were the pride and joy of their parents for homes of their own, but dutifully and tenderly cared for them. The old people died and were buried near, and the poor girls went daily to the side of the stream to weep. Narrow strips of ground, with sand and soil, stretching along the bank formed their sole patrimony; but now as their tears fell, the soil and pebbles of the stream bed, and then the sweet flowers, of countless narcissus plants pushed their heads above the water. The girls' herbage house with a fragrant and valuable harvest. They sold and sold again, until the mountain of the divinely sent fairy, and their descendants (so the legend concludes) for long generations have derived from this source.

In the early days of a certain railway compensation was paid to the relatives of those who were accidentally killed on the line. When it became known that this was the case, acts of suicide were very frequent, some being anxious to benefit their families or relatives in this way. The practice of paying compensation soon stopped, and suicidal tendencies ceased in that part of China.

Wire Fence With a History. Everything has a history more or less, either interesting or otherwise, but one is not likely to think of anything unusually interesting being associated with an ordinary wire fence.

On a farm about three miles to the north of Strathaven there is, however, a fence with a somewhat interesting history. It is constructed with part of the wire which at one time contained our country with the Continent of America. When the present Atlantic cable was laid down the old cable was taken up and the wires of which it was composed were exposed for sale. A farmer, who at that time occupied one of the Calverly farms in the district—purchased a considerable quantity of the wire, and used it for fencing purposes on his farm.

There is nothing particular in the appearance of the fence to attract the attention of the casual observer, but there it stands a relic of an ocean—part of the great cable which at one time lay at the ocean's depths, stretching between Britain and America, and over which messages were flashed—now serving to do duty in fencing the lands of the farm.

I could have done better than hurry you. You bring that question up at inopportune times, my dear. Suppose we place a bet this evening on the calendar to be devoted to its discussion.

The Wrong Box

Smiling, Pat stroiled into the examination room, where the aides for the police force underwent their physical test. (Sing) ordered the police-sergeant. Phew! that demanded the uninitiated.

Strip—your clothes off and be quick about it! Mumbling and muttering, Pat disrobed, and the doctor proceeded to the test. Hop over this bar, ordered the doctor.

Pat did his best, which landed him on the small of his back. Now jump under this cold shower, ordered the doctor. Shure, that's funny! muttered the applicant, as he obeyed.

And now, concluded the doctor, run round the room ten times, to test your heart and wind. Pat hesitated there. O'ill zat! he blurted out. O'ill stay single. Single! inquired the doctor mystified. Yes, single repeated the Irishman. What's all this fussing got to do with a marriage license?

He had strayed into the wrong office. This one may seem a little out of date, said the sergeant, but it's a department of a big store, but it actually happened to me one day in a little room like this. A woman walked up to the counter and said: I'm looking for a muff.

For muffin, said I; what fur? Please? And she snipped back: Little miss, my hands warm if it's any of your business.

Willow Lackage, the player has a story an animal show in the west where the principal feature of the programme was billed as "The Happy Painter." The said family consisting of a lion, a tiger, a puma, and a lamb. One man in conversation with the proprietor of the show asked how long these animals had lived together. Quite confidentially the proprietor replied:

About eight months, I think, but the lamb has to be renewed occasionally.

While passing an old-fashioned inn in Scotland some tourists were attracted by an aged bagpiper, who was tooting atrocious sounds through an instrument that was both dilapidated and squeaky.

Great Jericho, Sandy! exclaimed one in desperation. Why don't you have your poverty repaid?

The old man ceased playing and looked up at astonishment. I'm a bagpiper, my dear, understand! If he bagpipes were in good tune the ten men wadna give me two shillings to move on.

EVER HAVE CRAMPS, NAUSEA, VOMITING?

THEN USE NERVILINE. For Stomach Pains and Cramps, No Remedy so Prompt as Nerviline.

A Western Experience Related.

"It's in an unsettled part of the country like our far West that prove how valuable Nerviline is in the home," writes Mr. Patrick M. Dehany, from Fort Saskatchewan, "Chills are frequent—a hot drink of Nerviline sends life circulating through the body in three minutes. Cramps or sudden illness at night is one of our terrors. No drugstore or doctor is near, but if Nerviline is handy you can get relief."

The worst case Nerviline has cured in my children in half a minute. I don't think any farmer's wife has any more to dread the prevalence of Nerviline. In our family we use it for a hundred ills, and it cures them all. It is the right one of my children has earache and another toothache. Without Nerviline no one could control his voice sufficiently to speak, it cures, as he asserted. I have been in a suit."

How? he said. I had my spirit. By a second cure who came into my office this morning. I have nursed my wife for a day, and now I have come to you for advice. What would you do if a man were to tell you to go to Jericho and stop there?

As he strode about the room he kicked over the table and a couple of chairs.

My dear, she replied, after the impulsive manner of women and with the utmost sincerity, I wouldn't go. Then he sat down and thought that a good wife's advice was an anchor to windward in a husband's most tempestuous moments.

How Concrete Work Was Made Easy For You

UNTIL a few years ago farmers considered concrete a rather mysterious material, that could be used successfully only by experts. They knew that upon the quality of the cement depended much of the success of concrete work. They had no means of testing cement, such as big contractors employ, and so could not be sure of its quality.

Yet the farmer needed concrete. He was kept from using the best and most economical material by 1. Lack of knowledge of how to mix and place concrete. 2. Lack of a brand of cement upon the quality of which he could absolutely rely.

Canada Cement

has supplied both these requirements. We employed men to make a thorough investigation of the farmer's requirements; to find out where and how he could use concrete with profit to himself; to discover all problems he might come across and to solve them. This investigation was expensive. But when it was completed we had the material for our campaign to show the farmer how and where to use concrete, and we printed a book, "What the Farmer Can do With Concrete," for free distribution. That book makes every farmer who reads it a concrete expert, as far as his needs are concerned. He finds that there is nothing mysterious about concrete—that a few simple rules supply all the knowledge required.

At the same time we met the farmer's second objection—inability to test the quality of cement—by producing cement of a quality that does not need to be tested.

The Canada Cement that you buy by the bag is the same Canada Cement that is sold by the train-load for great elevators, buildings and bridges.

Not a Thunder Expert

The masterful manner in which some people evade an issue was mentioned at a recent dinner when this one was recalled by Rear Admiral Philip Andrews.

In New Orleans one night, the admiral said, there was a man on the stage who offered to answer by mental arithmetic any question that might be asked by the audience.

Just so long as the questioner remained in the expected range the sailing was easy, but finally one man got beyond the bearings.

If you please, said the man, rising from his seat: How far off can you hear thunder?

You can't tell me, responded the man. Why, I thought—

Not about thunder, replied the stage party, doing a quick piece of juggling. You see I am a lightning calculator.

Ask for Minard's and take no other. Sensible Advice. Why, Henry, she exclaimed, what is the matter with you? You seem excited. It was a minute before he could control his voice sufficiently to speak, it cures, as he asserted. I have been in a suit."

How? he said. I had my spirit. By a second cure who came into my office this morning. I have nursed my wife for a day, and now I have come to you for advice. What would you do if a man were to tell you to go to Jericho and stop there?

The game between Blairmore and Hillcrest on Saturday afternoon resulted in favor of the nine camp. The game was a good one as far as weather conditions and playing were concerned, but Blairmore suffered a weak spot in two supplementary weeks without a doubt affected the score. One thing may be said of the Hillcrest players—their footballers are sports of the first water and the inhabitants of the town are not lacking in offering every support necessary for the team. Late in the game blood has been added to the Hillcrest team which will create considerable interest in their engagements.
